I am the Wildfire Prevention Coordinator for the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, Government of the Northwest Territories. I began with the department in 2014 as a summer student in what turned out to be our worst fire season on record! I became a Communications and Public Education intern in 2015 and worked a lot with schools, communities and on the land camps spreading the prevention message. I continue to do a lot of public education work in my role now. During fire season I also work as an Information Officer, and as a Logistics Officer in the Territorial Duty office. I have a six year old daughter and an eleven year old (step) son that keep me busy, but in my spare time I love to read, garden and enjoy the outdoors.
